PIEtech, a Powhatan based online financial planning software developer, is a progressive, accomplished firm who get it...space matters.

PIEtech's signature office offers a thoughtfully crafted experience that creates opportunities for fun and collaboration among guests and staff.

DRIVERS

Greeted by colorful sculptures and landscaped outdoor amenities, it's clear PIEtech takes fun seriously. They strive to break the mold when it comes to creative office space. Occupying the entire second level and a portion of the third in a nearby multi-tenant building, PIEtech aims to maintain a strong cultural bond and maximize amenities.

APPROACH

The second level houses sales while the third level space collocates the chat and phone client support teams. Both floors include training and meeting spaces. We worked to transform the existing space into a thoughtfully crafted experience promoting their company's vision; plan, invest, enjoy. A key factor to the success of working in financial services is the talent of your employees and that starts with deliberate training. Maximizing both investment and flexibility, the space in the center of both floors serves multiple uses with the incorporation of a folding glass and retractable acoustic wall respectively.
